Protect Young People's Health: Provide Them with REAL Education

As young people and their allies, from across the United States who support REAL sex education, we believe that young people have the right to receive education that teaches about both abstinence and contraception, and provides medically accurate and age-appropriate information that helps them lead safe, healthy lives.

Together, we the undersigned urge the leaders of Congress to support the Responsible Education About Life Act (H.R.1653/S.972) to create the first ever dedicated funding stream for comprehensive sex education. Programs funded would educate young people about teenage pregnancy and how to prevent sexually transmitted diseases, including HIV. These programs would also teach about such topics as healthy relationships and communication skills.

It is time for policymakers to get REAL about giving young people the reliable, accurate information they need to make responsible decisions and stay healthy.
